ANNOUNCEMENT: New CCR Publication

Regrettably, Frontiers in Science as a stand-alone publication will be coming to an end in June 2007. The scientific news we currently cover in Frontiers will be integrated into a new quarterly publication that CCR's Office of the Director is now working on. This new publication, called CCR Connections, will be targeted toward a more diverse audience, including NCI's review boards (BSA, BSC, NCAB), NCI leadership, congressional staff, cancer centers, extramural scientists, patients, patient advocates, and postdocs/students. CCR Connections will convey to our external and internal audiences the vital role that CCR plays in cancer and HIV/AIDS research and treatment, and it will highlight our scientific interactions, both within and outside the Intramural Research Program.
